

In 2003, the management team at Caribbean Business Park decided that although there are many cafes and food stores in the area, there was a need for a cafe and restaurant within the park itself. In early 2004 The Great Provider cafe and restaurant opened for business.

Wilkore transformed a greenfield site within the park into the contemporary restaurant and conference space. The conference area includes flexible meeting rooms that can be expanded.

S2F were responsible for the modern and striking architecture. The Great Provider gave input as to how they wanted the commercial kitchen set up as well as what overall 'feel' the restaurant area should have.

The clients were very happy with the results of this project and the restaurant is still a highly successful business within the park.
